Garance came to the USA from Zurich, Switzerland in 1985 on a grant and never left. Her permanent studio is now on the North Fork . Influenced by her mother, who was an accomplished sculptor in Paris, art was always part of Garance’s life. Her expressionistic works have an immediate resonance, inspired by nature, books, pets and fantasies. Dena Zemsky shows works in a new media – clay. After a lifetime of working in traditional art forms, her latest works explore texture and form in clay – at times abstract, at times inspired by the sea. Andrew Wojtas, trained as an architect, has long practiced a modernist vocabulary. With a love of abstraction and color, he has devoted his recent efforts to color field painting.
